SCHENECTADY—Mayor Brian U. Stratton has been named Co-Chair of the Finance Policy Committee of the New York State Conference of Mayors (NYCOM). NYCOM President Joseph Delfino, Mayor of the City of White Plains, made the announcement today during NYCOM's legislative planning meeting in Albany.

As Co-Chair, Mayor Stratton will also serve on the NYCOM legislative committee, which formulates the state legislative priorities for with the Governor and the New York State legislature. A copy of the NYCOM press release announcing Mayor Stratton's appointment is attached.

Mayor Stratton said, "I am grateful for this appointment, and for the opportunity to help formulate NYCOM's legislative agenda for the year ahead. The incoming administration of Governor Spitzer presents an important opportunity to outline the many challenges our cities, towns and villages face. As always, I will continue to advocate for increased state aid for Schenectady and other struggling cities and municipalities across New York."
